

Highlighting Your Potential Certificate Supplement

for individuals

for individuals

Did you know?

The Certificate Supplement provides additional information on your vocational qualifications.

It highlights your skills, competencies and suitability for particular jobs.

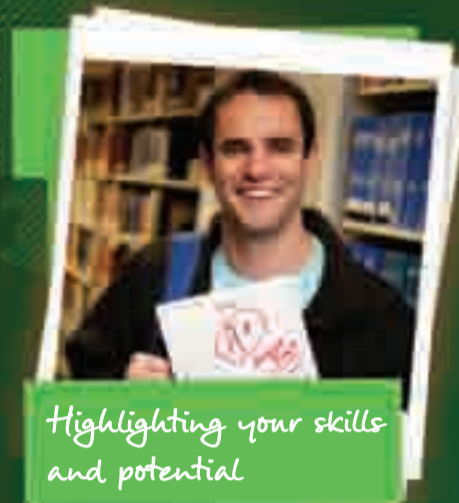

It provides information on the level of your qualification, as well as the applied grading scale, to employers and further education providers.

The Certificate Supplement is issued directly by the awarding body free of charge

If you were not issued with a Certificate Supplement on completion of your vocational qualification, please contact your awarding body to find out more.

Providing vocational information

Highlighting your skills and potential

for individuals

Where is it recognised?

The Certificate Supplement is recognised across Europe and beyond. Employers and education institutions value further information on the qualification programme you have successfully completed.

Identifying relevant attributes and skills

How should I use it?

Whenever you present your vocational qualification certificate, you should also provide the Certificate Supplement because it:

- provides additional information on your vocational achievement including the type of vocational course or the training that you have undertaken.
- will allow employers and institutions to identify relevant attributes and skills you have gained through this qualification.

www.europass.org.uk/cs

Discover Potential Certificate Supplement

for employers

for employers

Did you know?

The Europass Certificate Supplement provides detailed, user friendly information which allows you, the employer, to quickly and easily identify the relevant attributes and skills you are looking for in an individual.

The Certificate Supplement:

- provides additional information on the vocational qualification including the type of vocational course or the practical training that has been undertaken offers.
- a standardised format making cross referencing between candidates easier.

Identify skills quickly and easily

Discover Potential

Clearly identify vocational skills

for employers

What use is it to me as an employer?

As more and more graduates seek work outside of their own country, the Europass Certificate Supplement is increasingly used as a tool to provide a more comprehensive overview of the skills Vocational Education & Training (VET) graduates have obtained and the level of their qualification. This helps employers to choose the best candidate for any given position from a variety of backgrounds.

Choose the best candidate

How can I use it?

To ensure that you fully understand the skills, competencies and abilities of individuals with vocational qualifications please ask for the Certificate Supplement as part of your recruitment process. Please bear in mind that not all awarding bodies in the UK currently issue the Certificate Supplement.

For more detailed information about the content of the Certificate Supplement, please go to www.europass.org.uk/cs

